WATSON WINS OVER HOOVER

Today
A Pure Senator.
Ask Mr. Babst.
Trade Abroad.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.]

ONE man at least in the Senate is financially pure—Senator Norris, of Nebraska. His presidential candidacy cost him $8, and wouldn't have cost him a cent except that he paid for "an unauthorized advertisement."

Gentlemen from Illinois, Pennsylvania and elsewhere wonder at the simplicity of Nebraska's inhabitants.

THE League of Nations worries about the sugar industry, and is much distressed about the coal industry, in England especially.

Belgium wants "a new sugar convention" to put that industry on its feet. The league might send delegates here to consult with Mr. Earl Babst, head of the big American Sugar Refining Company, and some other Americans.

AMERICAN business men are learning how to manage trade abroad as well as home trade.

Eight years ago President Wilson said: "The United States waives its extra-territorial rights in the Kingdom of Siam, and it is an act of justice."

That didn't hurt the United States.
The French discovered that American business is growing in Indo-China, Australia, Malaysia. The King of Siam urges native Boy Scouts to imitate and follow the spirit of America.
It's great to be a creditor nation, with tons of gold and credit unlimited.

DOROTHY DIX, wise young woman, first cousin to Hypatia and Por-cia, says, "Consistency is the sure sign of old age. I pray my opinions may always be flexible."

Accused of being inconsistent, Dorothy Dix says, "I hope to goodness I am. I should hate like poison to be consistent."

MANY mistakes for consistency what is really old-age dullness.

When Harvey announced his discovery of the blood's circulation, giving proof that a child might have understood, his proofs were rejected by every doctor of reputation past 40 years of age.

EVEN Napoleon, old physically but not in years, did not use the improved rifle that a German had invented. And he had no time to give more than a minute to that American. "The American was Fulton, trying to show Napoleon how steamboats would take him across the English Channel."

FOR Uncle Sam, smoking cigars is not a waste of time. Tobacco paid this government in nine months $293,811,000. Of this amount cigars contributed $223,527,000.

Weather Delays Spanish Flyers.
SEVILLE, Spain, May 9.—Unfavorable weather today again prevented Capt. Jimenez and Capt. Iglesias, Spanish aviators, from starting on their attempt to set a new long distance flying record.

FIND TWO DEAD IN LOST PLANE
Wreckage Brought to Surface of Lake Erie.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 9.—Wreckage of the airplane which plunged into Lake Erie near here Friday afternoon was brought to the surface today and the bodies of two flyers who went to their deaths in the plane, were identified as those of James M. Lapey, of Buffalo, and John Rosecrans, of Milwaukee, Harvard university student.

Both bodies were strapped to the plane, which was recovered from 40 feet of water. The bodies were located late yesterday by divers who had been working for two days in an effort to find the plane. The bodies were taken to Long Point, Ontario, a half mile from the point where the plane fell.

Directors of Potters' Bank Will be Pall-ternoon, in charge of Dr. J. H. Lawther, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Directors of the Potters' National was president for 19 years, will be honorary pallbearers. Burial will be made in Riverside cemetery.

Friends may view the body between 7 and 10 o'clock.

Mr. Harker was one of East Liverpool's pioneer pottery manufacturers, his grand-father, Benjamin Harker, having erected a plant on the site of the Harker No. 1 shop, along the River road in 1840, the year following the building of the James Bennett pottery at the corner of Second and Jefferson streets. Upon the death of Benjamin Harker the business management was assumed by his son, George S. Harker, W. W. Harker, a son of the latter, became head of George S. Harker & Company in 1877.

He was elected president when the Harker Pottery company was incor-

WINNER AND LOSER IN INDIANA

Indiana yesterday voted endorsement of United States Senator James E. Watson (left) for the Republican presidential nomination. Senator Watson defeated Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover (right).

N. Cumberland Bankers Sentenced to Atlanta

Brandon Brothers, Asking no Mercy, are Given 10-year Prison Terms After Pleading Guilty of Misapplication of Funds.

Pleading guilty of misapplication of funds in the failure of the First National bank of New Cumberland, W. Va., John A. Brandon, president, and James E. Brandon, Jr., bookkeeper, were yesterday sentenced in federal court at Wheeling to serve 10-year terms in the Atlanta penitentiary.

The Brandon brothers, who asked no mercy, were sentenced by U. S. District Judge William E. Baker.

Accompanied by their counsel, Attorney Thomas B. Foulk, of Wheeling, the Brandon brothers voluntarily appeared in court. By reason of their failure to answer state charges in Hancock county they had been considered fugitives from justice.

Report $400,000 Shortage.

The two bankers, who were blamed for the bank crash, which occurred last November, entered pleas of guilty, through counsel, to two counts each, based upon misapplication of bank funds to the credit of the New Cumberland Glass company.

Attorney Foulk, in presenting the pleas, said that his clients realized the magnitude of the crime for which they had been indicted. He called attention to the fact that both men were regarded as leading citizens of New Cumberland prior to the closing of the bank, and to the fact that both were married and had families.

Frank Parrack, assistant district attorney, in recommending sentence, said that he had information from the federal examiners who had audited the affairs of the closed bank to the effect that the shortage would probably aggregate $400,000. Parrack said that he was advised that the defendants were penitent. He closed by recommending that each defendant be sentenced to serve five years on each of two counts against them, or a total of 10 years each.

Judge Baker said that it was not a pleasant duty to impose a prison sentence, but the law governed his procedure, and he concluded by sentencing both men to the Atlanta, Ga., prison. They were lodged in the Ohio county jail, pending removal to Atlanta.

FOUR MEN FINED IN CITY COURT

George Duke was fined $25 and costs today after being found guilty of a charge of assault by Judge Hanley.
The court suspended $20 of the fine.
Samuel Berman, arrested by Fireman Powers for parking in a restricted zone in St. Clair avenue, forfeited $2 bond. Brady McKenzie, charged with speeding in Maplewood by Fireman Jesse Terrence, was fined $1 and costs. Ellisworth Hohman, pugilist, arrested for blocking traffic in Summit lane Monday, was also fined $2.

HARDING CHAPTER, DE MOLAYS, PLANS PUBLIC MAJORITY SERVICE SUNDAY

A public majority service will be conducted in the American theatre by members of Harding chapter Order of DeMolay at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

George W. Clark, Cleveland,
"dad" of the Ohio state grand council and member of the De-Molay chapter of the Forest city, will be the speaker. Music will be in charge of the Steubenville consistory choir of 40 singers. The devotional part of the service will be in charge of two local clergymen.

Members of the chapter will meet in the Masonic temple, Broadway, at 1:30 p. m., and march along Broadway and East Sixth street to the theatre. Doors of the theatre will be opened at 1:30 o'clock.

The service will be in charge of J. L. Vodrey, "dad" of Harding chapter; William L. Hayes, Robert Kaiser, Alfred Earl, George Willehaw and Ralph Mullen.

SENATOR GETS INDIANA'S O. K. FOR PRESIDENT IN G. O. P. RACE

Secretary is 8,000 Votes
Behind in 2,040
Precincts.

ROBINSON VICTOR Stump Leads Myers in Dems' Race for Senator.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 9.—
United States Senator James E.
Watson apparently has defeated Herbert Hoover for Indiana's presidential endorsement on the basis of unofficial returns received today from nearly two-thirds of the state's 3,610 precincts in yesterday's Republican primary election.

No Majority for Governor.
Reports received early today from 2,040 precincts gave Senator Watson a lead of about 8,000 votes over the secretary of commerce.

Th totals were: Watson, 103,466;
Hoover, 95,046.

United States Senator Arthur R.
Robinson this morning was running two to one over the total of his two opponents, Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom and former Judge J. Carter.

Albert Stump was leading Walter Myers, his nearest opponent, more than two to one for the Democratic senatorial nomination. Both Republican and Democratic gubernatorial races probably will be determined in state conventions, for the party vote was so split between the record number of 17 candidates that none this morning had the necessary majority in the primary struggles.

The strength of Frederick Landis, Logansport editor, was the biggest surprise of the gubernatorial contest.
He was running second only to Secretary of State Frederick E. Schortemeier, the organization man, with Thomas H. Adams, crusading Vincennes publisher, third.

Hoover swept the industrial district of northern Indiana, but was halted as he reached the agricultural plains of central and southern Indiana.

Hoover apparently has carried the following counties:
Allen, Elkhart, Grant, Howard,
Huntington, Lake, Laporte, St. Joseph,
Wayne and Wabash.

Newberry's Prosecutor Leads.
Watson was leading in the following counties:

Carroll, Clay, Daviess, Decatur, Fulton, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Henry, Jefferson, Lawrence, Marshall, Miami, Monroe, Morgan,
Parke, Perry, Posey, Pulaski, Putnam, Randolph, Rush, Shelby, Starke, Tippecanoe.

ANTI-HOOVER FORCES HAPPY

Say Indiana Setback
Means Secretary
"Will be Stopped."

By George R. Holmes.
WASHINGTON, May 9.—Both sides managed to extract some degree of satisfaction today out of Indiana's hectic primary election, which saw Herbert Hoover's presidential aspirations receive their first major setback of the pre-convention season.

Incomplete returns, supplemented by private advice reaching Washington this morning, indicate that Senator James E. Watson carried the state by a small but substantial margin of about 20,000 votes, and thus acquires Indiana's 33 delegates to the Kansas City convention.

The Indiana contest was hailed as the first real test of Hoover strength in pivotal and doubtful territory. Before the balloting, the Hoover managers had asserted that if Hoover carried the state "it would be all over but the shouting," and, conversely, the anti-Hoover "allies" had asserted that if Hoover could be stopped in Indiana, "he will be stopped at Kansas City."

Hoover Managers Disappointed.
The Hoover managers had been confident of repeating their Ohio victory in Indiana, and they were sorely disappointed today as the slowly trickling returns pointed at Watson's victory. Even the refusal of Hoover's Indiana manager to concede the defeat did not console them much.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1928.

William W. Harker

East Liverpool today pays homage to the memory of William W. Harker, pottery manufacturer and banker, who died Monday afternoon after two years' illness.

If intimate friends, who, through other sources have learned of the many kindnesses this man has done for his neighbor, were privileged to write his epitaph, they probably would inscribe on his monument: William W. Harker, a man who believed in Christian charity and practiced it. For the late pottery manufacturer, who always wished to keep in the background, was an ardent advocate of the Golden Rule.

The Ceramic City, in the progress of which he played no small part and in prosperity of which he had contributed more than his share of effort, has suffered a great loss in his death. He was the type of a man that is an asset to any community.

Following in the footsteps of his grandfather and father, he engaged in the pottery business in the days when chemical research, tunnel kilns and other modern methods and improvements were not thought of. And by his practical knowledge, business ability and inherent honesty, climbed the ladder of success.

Whether as president of the Harker Pottery company, a position he had held since 1889, or as head of the Pottery National bank, a post of honor which he resigned early in January upon his own insistence after serving for 19 years, he gave unstintingly of his ability and time. And his integrity and sterling Christian character were stamped in the strides made by both enterprises.

Deadman's Island

In flying 250 miles south after reaching the northwestern corner of Spitzbergen, Captain George H. Wilkins and Pilot Eielson broke away from all precedents in the handling of aircraft to and from this popular island base for Polar flights.

Both Wellman and Andree took off in their balloons from the northwestern corner, where centuries ago Dutch whalers maintained the settlement of Smeerenburg, or "Blubbortown." The latest Polar fliers apparently flew directly over Danes Island, at Suerenburgh, base of the two early efforts to reach the pole by air.

One hundred and twenty-five miles farther south they zoomed over King's Bay where Byrd and Floyd Bennett took off for the Pole in 1926, and where they landed upon their return; and where Roald Amundsen, Noble and Ellsworth started their successful expedition in the Norge a few days later.

The landing point of Wilkins and Eielson, described in dispatches as Deadman's Island, just north of Ice Fjord, lies another 125 miles south of King's Bay. The fliers apparently were making for the sole Spitzbergen wireless station at Green Harbor, an indentation in the south shore of Ice Fjord, when they found it necessary to land on the small island.

Charts fail to disclose a Deadman's Island, says a bulletin from the National Geographical Society, but it apparently takes its name from the northern portal of Ice Fjord, known as Deadman's Spit, or Deadman's Mountain.

The most famous Deadman's Island in Spitzbergen, which has been confused with the landing place of Wilkins, lies in the harbor of old Smeerenburg, at the northwestern tip of the main island of the group, 250 miles north of the newest Deadman to appear in the world news. The original and better known Deadman was the burial place of the thousands of Dutch whalers who met violent death in the braving days of "Blubbortown," or who died by the hundreds of scurvy.

The grim name, Deadman, appears over and over again, however, in connection with geographic features.

Thrills For Patricia

It does not happen often that a 6-year-old girl is able to be present in person when a tumultuous ovation is accorded her daddy, yet that is the great fortune which has befallen Patricia Fitzmaurice, whom Major James Fitzmaurice, pilot of the trans-Atlantic Bremen, refers to as his eldest unmarried daughter.

Everywhere the dashing major has gone in New York since the Bremen crew finally reached the metropolis, there also has been little Patricia. She reached the American shores with her mother and the wives of the other Bremen fliers almost simultaneously with the airplane crew.

One needs no great power of imagination to get some idea of the tremendous thrills which little Patricia has had since she arrived in New York. The trip itself, and the things she has seen since her arrival would have made an everlasting impression on her childish mind without any acclaim at all on the part of the populace for her distinguished father.

But add this wild acclaim to the other and ordinary thrills and it is comparatively easy to see that Patricia has participated in an affair which will live indelibly in her memory, and which will provide her with a fund of material to relate to her girlhood friends when she returns to Dublin and goes back to the humdrum of everyday life.

Little Patricia, hugging a Teddy Bear to her, and smiling a dimpled and typically Irish colleen smile, has watched the hearts of New Yorkers. They're making almost as much fuss over Patricia, as they are making over Major Fitzmaurice—and judging by Patricia's photographs, there is a sensible reason for all the fuss.

Luries for Vaudeville

There is cause for mixed emotions in an incident that followed the acquittal of Harry F. Sinclair, all magnate, by a Washington jury. A Baltimore amusement park owned promptly wired to the foreman offering the jury $1,200 for a week's contract to appear in his theatre. The offer was made, as he explained, "in the sincere belief that waiting millions are anxious to see the twelve tried and true citizens who returned this verdict."

The offer apparently was regarded seriously by the foreman, for he wired back: "We are still jurors; cannot give reply until discharged by the court."

Perhaps the court, if requested, would cheerfully have given permission for the immediate exhibition of the jurors.

The instinct of that Baltimore showman was sound. Millions would like to see what that jury, and various other juries who have won fame similarly, look like.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—Gadsby's Tavern, in Alexandria, Virginia, soon to be restored and made a national shrine, was the scene of the first public celebration of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, Virginia having been the tenth state to take favorable action on the document. George Washington was present and participating. He noted the event in his diary, and in a letter to Charles Cotesworth Pinckney he wrote:

"Thus the citizens of Alexandria, when convened, constituted the first public company in America which had the pleasure of pouring a libation to the prosperity of the ten states that had actually adopted the general government. . . . I have just returned from assisting at the entertainment."

After the War of the Revolution had been won, and Washington had returned to private life, he became concerned about the commercial relations of the colonies and called a conference in Alexandria—here the tavern figures again as a notable meeting place—to consider the problem. Only Maryland and Virginia were represented at the preliminary meetings at the tavern, which were continued at Mount Vernon, but later there was a gathering at Annapolis with the representative of five states participating, and out of that grew the general convention in Philadelphia in 1787 which drafted the constitution of the United States. The circle was completed when the adoption of the constitution was celebrated in the tavern where the movement for such an organic law was initiated.

There is much of romance and mystery about Gadsby's. For instance, there is romance in Lafayette's several visits there. When he came first to America, his youthful imagination and zeal all afire with the cause of the colonies, he was accompanied by Baron De Kalb. They landed at Georgetown and visited several "utopian cities" and then started for Philadelphia to tender their services to Washington. En route, they stopped at Alexandria and spent the night at Gadsby's. The following morning they were attempting to arrange for a relay of horses to continue their journey, and were having no little trouble in making "it," as it were understood. A young American who was there volunteered to act as interpreter. He was John Paul Jones, a day or two before the beginning of a close friendship between him and Lafayette.

Both romance and mystery attend the arrival of a young man and young woman at Gadsby's in 1816. The young woman was ill of a fever and required immediate medical attendance. The young man would not reveal his name, nor that of the young woman, and the physician who was summoned was placed on honor not to disclose anything that he might learn about them.

When at last the young woman died at dawn of an October morning, the man was alone with her. He prepared her body for burial and sealed the casket so that no one might gaze upon her features. She was buried in St. Paul's cemetery, and the man remained in Alexandria only long enough to supervise the placing of a tombstone, which is there today, bearing an epitaph that would quicken the brain of a dailier.

It was a Gadsby's, too, that Anne Warren, one of the most celebrated actresses of her day, died in 1808. She was playing at a theatre just across the street from the tavern when she was taken ill. She was buried in Christ Church yard, and was the next to the last person to be interred there. Mrs. Warren was a cousin of Joseph J. Ferson, it is stated.

War, statecraft, love, gaming, death—all used Gadsby's as a stage setting. When the tavern is restored, can they lay the ghosts that must stalk its halls?

Q. Is most food required by man, woman, or child? C. S. D.

A. According to Professor V. H. Mettram, an adult woman needs but 2500 calories a day. An adult man engaged in sedentary occupation requires 4000 calories gazed in sedentary occupation requires 3000 calories. The physiological reason given is that the feminine organism utilizes food more economically than man. A child's food should not be proportioned according to his age, as he requires more than half the food of an adult. Boys and girls of 14 are to be considered as adults in food utilization.

Q. Are the clams found in the rivers of Wisconsin good to eat? C. W.

A. They are chiefly used for the commercial production of pearl buttons. These are large clams and are not edible. They are also used for commercial clam meal.

Q. When was the grained vault with projecting ribs first used in Italy? H. D.

A. S. Reinach says this style of vault was first used in Italy after the eighth century by the Lombard architects.

Q. What are the commercial uses of phosgene? C. G.

A. Phosgene is used in dye making, in purifying sand used for optical glass, and may be used to kill rodents and insects.

East Liverpool Review Offers a Booklet of Baseball Rules

If there is a man on base in the last half of the ninth inning, with the score tied, and the batter knocks the ball out of the lot, how many runs score? Does the batter receive credit for a home run? If the runner was on third base and the batter hit a three-bagger, with what would the batter be credited? A copy of the official rules in your possession will promptly settle questions like this, which constantly arise. Any reader may secure the rules in handy booklet form for six cents.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Every ocean liner has a nobody traveling incognito for the sole purpose of attracting attention. In the majority of instances it is the son or daughter of some illustrious millionaire who would never be heard of save for papa's jack.

Among all New York's publicity seekers there are few so eager for the spotlight as those who have been afforded every advantage, but who cannot even do a good card trick. Seen realization of their inadequacy seems to overwhelm them.

Hundreds go in for a new wrinkle in art and give it the quaint name of "self-expression." An abused term. Singing in the bath is self-expression, but is it art? Some outfit grotesque studios in Greenwich Village, and invite the soul-hungry to sit about on the floor in the sputtering candle light.

Still others take up sculpting. So few know anything about the technique of this art that it offers a convenient camouflage for mediocrity. Others dabble in literature, sending sonnets and prose to ultra journals, often written by ghost writers.

Genius does not always flower in poverty. Innumerable sons and daughters of the rich have stepped out and carved niches for themselves. Not all the society ladies are being blindfolded to show the world in advertisements they recognize instantly their favorite cigarette.

Yet it does seem those handicapped by a lack of advantages are more likely to etch their names on the immortal scroll. There were in the past year some 20 exhibitions at private galleries of the work of attention-trailers, and they didn't mean a thing.

There are violin, piano, voice and cello recitals at public halls almost every month which are filled for the one evening by friends, but nothing is heard of the "artists" again. The stage and movies, too, have claimed their quota of the socially rich who expected to topple stars from their thrones. But didn't.

Three foreign journalists arrived in New York recently to fathom the un-

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

All the acquired mental diseases of youth are grouped under a general name. The particular condition I have in mind rarely attacks a person past twenty-five. I refer to what the doctors call "dementia precox."

It is a sad thing to find a young person who has been well and strong, cheerful and normal in his mental processes, suddenly develop unusual and disturbing symptoms. The things which made him happy, suddenly appear to bore and even to irritate him. A heretofore peaceful and calm individual develops "brain storms." In an attack he breaks the furniture, swears and acts like a demon.

It is bad enough for one to die after a long lifetime of usefulness, but to die in youth seems a terrible fate. Any form of hopeless disease or insanity attacking the young moves us more than a similar misfortune met by the aged.

Dementia precox is an abnormal mental state associated with the developing period of life. It is characterized by acquired weakness of the mental processes and by many perverted ideas. In alternation with the times of overstimulation of the brain, are periods of depression and sadness. There is mental alertness one day and great confusion of mind the next.

In dementia precox it is not unusual for the victim to recite over and over, one single line of poetry. He may keep this up for hours. He performs the same act repeatedly. A young person may be one of the most cleanly and well groomed of your acquaintances. Suddenly he becomes careless. He is negligent of his person and clothing. He is sloppy in his actions. This raises the suspicion of dementia precox.

I have told you that this disease is acquired. The feeble-minded youth has always been weak-minded. But the victim of the trouble we are considering was formerly bright and normal. The history indicates the difference between the two disturbances.

The onset may be sudden. Shock, fright or prostration, due to bodily or mental causes, may be followed by this disability. In other cases it is gradual in its onset and the course is progressive.

The acute and sudden type is the more hopeful of cure. It may take time to accomplish it, but recovery comes. The slow type is more serious.

The outcome of the case depends on the cause. If there is some underlying and removable physical disability, the case is most favorable. Sometimes there has been long illness or overwork. Recovery of strength and vigor brings mental relief.

The recent advances in this field have made us more hopeful in such cases. They must be studied with particular reference to localized infection in teeth, tonsils, large intestines or other parts of the body. When the underlying physical disorder is found, recovery follows its removal.

There must be careful examination of the blood and all the secretions. Until every test has been made no reliable estimate of the probabilities of cure can be attempted.

Rest in bed, proper nourishment, baths, massages and change of scene are important. More important is it to find the fundamental physical trouble and to get rid of this.

John B. Moore's Resignation.
Though the United States has never yet consented to become a member of the large group of nations maintaining the permanent court of international justice, an American authority on international law, John Bassett Moore, was selected as a judge in the court when it was first organized, seven years ago. Dr. Moore has now tendered his resignation from the court, in order to devote his entire time and energies to the preparation of an extended historical treatise on international law.

The members of the court all rank as profound scholars, but it may be said without any partiality that not one of them outranks Dr. Moore. Whether he will be succeeded by another American remains to be seen. Among American names already suggested are those of Elihu Root, Chief Justice Taft, Charles Evans Hughes, George W. Wickham and John W. Davis.

Mr. Root's age, 83 years, makes the suggestion of his name only a mark of honor to the eminent scholar and statesman who had more to do than perhaps any other one man with the formation of the plan under which the court operates. Chief Justice Taft, even if he were younger, would not surrender a position which he so thoroughly enjoys, and for which he is so eminently fitted, to accept any other judicial position. George W. Wickham is an eminent lawyer, but a man of 70 years could not promise any long term of active service.

Of the two remaining names, Mr. Hughes and John W. Davis, Mr. Hughes has somewhat more of actual accomplishment to his account, in the fields of law and statesmanship, but not more than his eleven added years would naturally bring. Hughes is now 66 and Davis only 55, thus leaving him time for long and active service while still in the full vigor of mental and physical manhood. If the appointment should fall again to America, it would be hard to find a more promising selection than John W. Davis. —Columbus Dispatch.

Gives Your Hair Unusual Beauty

The attractiveness of even the most beautiful women depends upon the loveliness of their hair.

Fortunately, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Multifid Coconut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Multifid is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft, silky and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Multifid Coconut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

PORTFOLIO TELLS MILITARY STORY OF J. S. WEBBER, FORMER G. A. R. CHIEF

Joseph S. Webber, former commander of General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, is the proud owner of a leather-bound portfolio of his "personal, military and civil history," compiled from records on file at Washington by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Historical and Benevolent society, a copy of which has been placed on record in the Congressional library at Washington as an "heirloom to posterity."

In addition to his military history, the booklet contains photographs of Mr. Webber, his wife, the late Mrs. Sarah Ann Cartwright Webber, and the house which formerly stood at the northwest corner of Second and Market street, where Mr. Webber was born on Nov. 6, 1841. He was the third son of Jeremiah V. and Phoebe Scott Webber.

Mr. Webber served for two enlistment periods during the Civil war, one for three months and another for three years, 1862, and a month later ordered to Covington, Ky., where it performed guard duty until October, 1863, when it was relieved and ordered to report to Major General Rosecrans at Chattanooga, Tenn. Part of the regiment was mounted and sent against rebel guerrillas, who were infesting the country between Nashville and Tullahoma.

In June, 1864, that part of the regiment not mounted was stationed on the line of the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad in block houses to prevent guerrillas from destroying it, being the line of communication for the Union army. During its latter service the command, either as a regiment or by detachments, took part in the attack against Murfreesboro and a number of assaults on the blockhouses. The regiment also performed garrison duty at Murfreesboro and along the railroad line until June, 1865, when it was ordered to return home. Mr. Webber was with the command continuously except at the battle of Stone River when he was on provost duty in Cincinnati. He received his final discharge from Murfreesboro, June 22, 1865.

"He was always faithful, rendering valuable service on all occasions," according to the official document taken from war department records.

Mr. Webber was married to Miss Sarah Ann Cartwright, a daughter of Thomas and Emily Cartwright at Glasgow, better known as Smith Ferry, Pa., on May 11, 1862, just prior to his second enlistment. Their first child, the late Henry A. Webber, was born February 14, 1863, while the father was in the service. Three other sons and three daughters were also born to this union. They were Thomas F., Ambrose E. and Joseph S. Webber, Jr., and Emily, Phoebe and Sarah E. Webber.

A 20-year advance: Until a comparatively short time ago, the soap makers of the world thought they had achieved the very last word in exquisite soaps.

Then, one day, our chemists discovered a scientific "new" process which gave soap a different, finer texture and a quicker responsiveness to water. In one step, actually, they jumped 20 years ahead of all other soaps—and the new soap which they made is this glistening white Camay!

Millions of beauty-loving girls by using Camay are now learning the difference between this new kind of soap—and all the foreign and American soaps—in loveliness, in gentleness to their skin, in fragrance.

What Pavements Should Be— and why:

A good base is needed, as any building needs proper foundation.

Over this a thin layer of sand—a cushion. On top, paving brick—vitrified into the toughest wearing-surface man makes—and bound with asphalt between bricks.

So laid, paving brick—tough, dense, water-tight—is a surface water cannot penetrate. Paving not impervious to water—which absorbs or admits it through cracks—is surely damaged when the water, freezing, expands.

And a brick surface has resilience to withstand heavy-load shocks—or to contract and expand with temperature changes (as all pavement must) without cracking up.

No chemical changes take place in brick—either in laying, or after laid; no softening under heat; no loss of "life" with age. And it wears and wears—frequently 30 or more years.

Furthermore, brick properly laid, smoothly level, stays that way; easy riding, safe, and good to look at. This combination means not only the highest value pavement money can buy—but also, in the end, the cheapest!

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how engineers today build over-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, 332 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

Of 1286 Brides 1240 told us this . .

Lovely hands . . . with they stay lovely, in spite of housekeeping cares?

A WHOLE week's "crop" of new brides—in 11 cities*—more than 1,200 of them—told us their home-making plans.

Each plan was different, of course. But on one thing these brides were agreed.

They are going to take up housekeeping as a job which requires intelligence and skill. Yet one to be filled without sacrificing charm and GOOD-LOOKS.

And 96 out of 100 of these brides have decided on one way to do this—

Because they know—from using Lux to wash their own fine things—how white and soft Lux makes their hands, they plan to use only Lux for all DISHES, all cleaning their hands have to do.

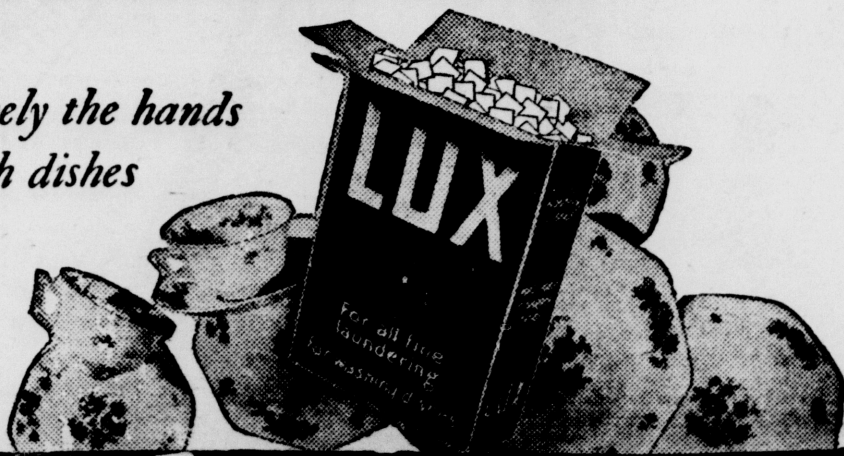

As experienced housekeepers know, many household soaps—flakes, chips and cakes—are made in the old-fashioned way. They contain harmful alkali that dries up the skin, coarsening and aging it.

There is no injurious alkali in Lux. Made by a remarkable process—Lux actually SOOTHES the skin, leaves it whiter and softer than before.

And instant, sparkling Lux suds are so rich and cleansing that the dishes seem almost to wash themselves! Lux for dishes COSTS LITTLE, because the big package washes six weeks' dishes! Lovely hands for so small a price!

NEIGHBORS' DAY OBSERVED BY PEACE SOCIETY

Senator Beaubien of Canada Speaks at Luncheon.

CENTENNIAL MEET

Commissions Seeking Ground to End War Assemble.

CLEVELAND, May 9.—Today was "Neighbors' day" at the American Peace Society centennial being celebrated here. Hon. Charles P. Beaubien, senator of Canada, was to speak at a "good-will" luncheon under the auspices of civic and commercial organizations. On the same list with Senator Beaubien were Hon. William E. Sweet, former governor of Colorado; Herman Bernstein, New York author, traveler and journalist, and Dr. Paul Milyukof of Paris, France, former minister of the Russian duma.

Six commissions seeking a common ground to end wars were to resume meetings during the day. The report of these commissions, due Friday, is being awaited with great interest.

The sixth general assembly of the conference on international justice was to be held at 3 p. m., to be addressed by Dr. Jesse H. Holmes, professor of philosophy, Swarthmore college; Dr. Elizabeth Wallace, professor of languages, Chicago university, and Senator Don Orestes Ferrara, Cuba's ambassador to the United States.

The seventh general assembly will be held tonight with scheduled addresses by A. C. Klumpp, former president of Rotary International; Senator Dr. Don Alejandro Cesar, Nicaragua's minister to the United States; Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's minister to the United States, and Cosme de la Torre, former ambassador from Cuba to Spain and to the United States.

During the fifth general assembly sessions here last night, hecklers frequently interrupted the speech of Dr. Paul Milyukof and it was necessary to eject 13 men and six women when the increasing din drowned out Chairman Theodore E. Burton's gavel. Milyukof denounced the present Russian government and calmly finished his address despite the uproar.

Rev. Dr. Carl H. Wilson, national chaplain of the American Legion, speaking before last night's assembly, advocated use of part of the money received by the United States on its foreign debts to establish scholarships in America for students in other lands, as a means for promoting international friendship.

Judge Allen Speaks.
Linley V. Gordon, executive secretary of the Church Peace Union, denounced "those who pay lip service to peace while advocating armaments in behalf of national defense."

In a plea for the outlawry of war, Judge Florence E. Allen, of the Ohio supreme court, traced the rise of the contention that the war making power belongs to the people and not to the king. She urged that nations observe the "ten commandments."

Judge Allen praised the Kellogg treaties and declared that while the "Kellogg proposal may not be accepted verbatim by the great powers, its mere statement constitutes an amazing advance toward the establishment of world peace."

CHICAGO COPS KILL BANDIT IN GUN BATTLE

ONE GIVEN "RIDE" Motorcycle Police "Get" Trolley Car High- wayman.

CHICAGO, May 9.—An unidentified highwayman was shot and killed early today in a gun battle with police. He was the third bandit to be slain here during the past 24 hours.

Two were killed by officers of the law; the third was "taken for a ride" by underworld friends whom he is believed to have double-crossed.

The latest victim was shot down by three motorcycle patrolmen a few minutes after he and a companion had held up a "Gold Coast" street car and robbed the conductor of $10 in receipts.

That was at dawn this morning. Late last night a detective bureau squad surprised a bandit in the act of holding up a man under a south-side elevated structure. Cornered, the bandit opened fire, but was killed in the exchange of shots.

He was partially identified as L. E. Zimmerman, 28.

There were no marks of identification found on the street car bandit. The other to die was Willie Jackson, fugitive Grand Trunk mail robber, whose body was found in an alley yesterday morning. He is believed to have been killed by gangsters.

All police involved in the bandit killing escaped injury.

NO WAR BUT JAPS, CHINESE AWAIT BATTLE

Technicality of Law Between Conflict and Peace.

TSINAN DISPUTE

Orient Faces Gravest
Crisis Since Boxer Uprising.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Only a technicality of international law stands today between the military reality of war and the diplomatic fiction of peace in the Orient.

Northern China, now Japan has formally declared war, but 70,000 troops of the two powers are in and enroute to the Tsinan zone which has already reported casualties on both sides.

Unconcealed defiance by the Chinese Nationalist troops of the 24-hour Japanese ultimatum demanding withdrawal from the vital Tsinan area has left the armed forces of the two nations sole arbiters of the gravest crisis in China since the days of the Boxer uprising, more than a quarter of a century ago.

Nippon Troops Move.
A new Japanese division of 16,000 troops is enroute from Nagoya, Japan, to Tsingtau, key port of Shantung province, in which approximately 10,000 troops of Nippon already are in service.

Japan has served notice upon Chiang Kai Shek, Nationalist generalissimo, that no further negotiations will be conducted between the army commanders at Tsinan, the scene of clashes during the last four days.

All communications from Tsinan are in the hands of the Japanese, the Chinese wireless station there having been destroyed by the Japanese artillery fire.

Whether Japan's iron hand on the vital railroad constitutes an act of war against China is a question on which diplomats disagree. Those who favor Japanese occupation of the entire province of Shantung, with its 40,000,000 population, assert that Japan is acting within her rights under the nine-power Washington treaty of 1922.

Foreign Powers Watchful.
Meanwhile, there is no response to the Japanese ultimatum in sight. Chiang Kai Shek's advance troops already have passed the area defined in the ultimatum and are enroute toward Tientsin, the vital commercial port of Peking.

Representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, United States and Japan are closely watching developments in Tokyo in the hope that a declaration of war may somehow be avoided.

Naval advisers from Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, commander of the Asiatic fleet, whose flag-ship, the cruiser Pittsburgh, is now visiting Tokyo on a courtesy call, confirm that the Chinese troops have pierced the last line of defense in Shantung and have thus opened an unobstructed path to Tientsin.

The United States has 3,000 marines and 1,000 soldiers at Tientsin and about 200 other men of both branches along the Tientsin-Peking railroad. A marine legion guard of 500 men is stationed at Peking.

Japan to Mobilize 50,000.
TOKIO, May 9.—The Japanese war office is making preparations for the mobilization of 50,000 "shock" troops for service in China, it was learned today.

This was taken to indicate that the government anticipates that the situation in China will not be ended by the Tsinan incident, which has resulted in a virtual state of war between Japan and the Nationalist Chinese army, under the leadership of General Chiang Kai Shek.

It was also learned today that two additional divisions of Japanese troops are ready to embark for China at a moment's notice.

Hoover Foes Happy

however, they masked their disappointment somewhat by pointing to the closeness of the contest, and stressing the magnitude of the task which Hoover staked out for himself when he tried to beat such an efficient machine as the Watson organization on its home grounds. They extract considerable satisfaction, too, out of the fact that Hoover clearly carried some of the industrial sections of the state.

Neither Secretary Hoover nor his campaign manager, ex-Congressman James W. Good, would make any public comment this morning. Good said he wanted to analyze the Indiana returns by districts before making any statement.

On the other hand, "The allies," as the anti-Hoover coalition is called in Washington, were openly and enthusiastically jubilant. While they were somewhat impressed by the size of the Hoover vote, they nevertheless repeated their pre-election statements that "Hoover can be stopped at Kansas City."

The Hoover defeat was particularly gratifying to the grain belt representatives, nearly all of whom are opposed to him.

Business in America Reported on Upgrade

National Industrial Conference Board Says Living Costs are Declining—Dollar Worth 62.1 Cents.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Business conditions in the United States have shown improvement since the first of the year, particularly in the automobile, steel and building industries, according to monthly reports received by the National Industrial Conference Board from 2,000 manufacturers.

Living costs are declining, wages remain comparatively high, unemployment is disappearing and the purchasing power of the dollar is higher today than it has been for nearly five years, the board reports. The board is maintained by 30 national and state organizations for the purpose of exchanging information and experience.

Food, rent and clothing are cheaper. The people are living better, they have more luxuries. Savings banks are doing a prosperous business. Savings in banks, building and loan association assets and life insurance premiums paid showed an increase in 1927 of 223 per cent per capita of population over 1914.

Measured by average living costs for the American wage earner, the dollar is worth, on the basis of living costs in March, this year, 62.1 cents in comparison with the pre-war dollar of July, 1914. It was lowest in July, 1920, when its buying power was 48.9 in comparison with the pre-war buying power.

Rent and Food Down.
The cost of living, according to the board's figures, is today at the lowest point since June, 1923, when it was about the present level. There has been a net decline in living costs of 21.2 per cent since July, 1920, the peak of the post-war inflation period. This decline has been steady in 1926 and 1927.

Rent and food have come down appreciably. Retail food prices were 31.1 per cent lower in March this year than in July 1920 and about 5 1/2 per cent lower than in March 1926. Rents for the country as a whole, averaged 11.3 per cent lower than at their 1924 peak and 6.8 per cent lower than in March last year.

Clothing prices today average a net decline of about 40 per cent from their peak in April 1920. Coal prices averaged last winter 20 per cent less than at their peak in November 1923. Gas and electricity have decreased 21 per cent since 1921.

Watson Wins Indiana

peacocks, Vanderburgh, Vermilion, White and Whitley.

Although Frank C. Bailey, prosecutor of Truman H. Newberry, was far in the lead in the Democratic race for governor, he had not established a majority. Next in order were John E. Frederick, Kokomo steel manufacturer, and Earl H. Crawford, Indiana Farm Bureau federation official.

Refuse To Concede Watson Victory.
INDIANAPOLIS, May 9.—Oscar G. Foellinger, Indiana manager of Herbert Hoover's candidacy for the Republican nomination for president, today refused to concede that United States Senator James E. Watson had defeated Hoover in the Indiana primary election yesterday.

"The returns from a number of Hoover strongholds are very incomplete and Hoover is only a little behind Watson at present," Foellinger said. Foellinger pointed out that returns from Delaware, Madison and Lake counties, admittedly Hoover districts, were far from complete.

Hoover's headquarters staff was cheered when returns came in from 55 of the 269 precincts in Indianapolis giving Hoover 4,736 votes and Watson 4,250.

Dry Candidate Arrested
KOKOMO, Ind., May 9.—Olin R. Holt, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Indiana, was released from jail here today following his arrest on a charge of "public intoxication."

Friends of the attorney put up a $100 cash bond for his appearance in police court this afternoon.

KOKOMO, Ind., May 9.—This city was "shocked" today over the arrest of Olin R. Holt, prominent attorney and candidate in yesterday's primary election for the Democratic nomination for governor. He was charged with "public intoxication."

Holt was endorsed as an outstanding dry by the local W. C. T. U. recently and by Dr. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana anti-saloon league. He was arrested in an alley last night where, according to police, he was staggering around "blind drunk."

It is not yet known how Holt fared in the primary. He is one of the at-large, imprisoned former grand drag-boatmen who represented Dr. C. Stephens of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan.

Ask Cincinnati Vote Probe.
COLUMBUS, O., May 9.—Request that Governor Vio Donahay arrange for a probe of alleged frauds at Cincinnati in connection with the presidential primaries held April 24, last, was contained in a letter received today at the governor's office from Major Robert L. Long, chairman of the Service Men's Division, Willis-for-President club of Hamilton county.

Governor Donahay is in the south on a motor trip. Jacob Meckstroth, the governor's private secretary, also was absent from the gubernatorial offices today. Other officials at the governor's office said nothing could be done today concerning Long's letter. They were inclined to believe that the communication will be referred to Secretary of State Clarence Brown, with Donahay and Meckstroth taking the position that the charges are matters which properly come under the jurisdiction of the secretary of state as head of the state election machinery.

HINT SOFT DRINK MERGER PLANNED

NEW YORK, May 9.—Efforts to merge the Coca-Cola company and the Canada Dry Gingerale company—two of the biggest soft drink concerns—have failed.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Reports were current in banking circles today that a big consolidation of soft drink manufacturing concerns is in the making. The plans, it is said, call for the merging of the Coca-Cola company and the Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc.

Later, according to the reports in Wall street, the Liquid Carbonic company will be brought into the consolidation. Officials of the Canada Dry company declined to comment on the rumors.

KNAPP WOMAN FACES SECOND TRIAL MAY 21

Jury Disagrees in Census
Money Theft
Case.

FEAR COLLAPSE

Shock Sweeps Away
Iron Nerve of Defendant.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 9.—Faced with a second trial on May 21 on the charge that she stole census money, former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp, New York's first woman official, today was reported in a state bordering on collapse.

After deliberating eight hours, the supreme court jury before whom Mrs. Knapp had been on trial for a solid week, filed into the jury box just a few minutes past midnight last night and reported a disagreement.

Although she had hoped for an acquittal, Mrs. Knapp smiled. Then came the shock which swept away the iron nerve that had carried her so successfully through seven days of grueling trial. Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan set the second trial for May 21.

Removal of two brick airshafts from the American theatre, alleged by Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore to be blocking Crook alley, will be started immediately, in order to permit the contractors to proceed with the improvement of that part of the thoroughfare, it was announced today.

The management of the theatre has asked the state fire marshal for a ruling with regard to the removal of the fire escape steps leading into the alley from the balcony of the playhouse, but have agreed to see that these steps do not interfere with the improvement of the alley pending receipt of the opinion.

Service-Safety Director Moore yesterday signed an affidavit, charging William Erlanger, Sr., Canton, owner of the theatre, with violating the state law prohibiting the obstruction of an alley. Erlanger notified Solicitor Hoover that he would authorize his counsel, Attorney Ben L. Bennett, to answer the charge when it is called for a hearing. No disposition of the charge had been made up to the noon hour.

Ohio Missionary Reported Safe.
CLEVELAND, May 9.—Leon C. Osborn, Cleveland missionary now in the war zone of China, was reported safe here today in a cablegram from his sister, Mrs. Harry J. Stadden, from the Chaocheng mission attaches. Osborn was seized by Chinese Nationalists during the latter part of April.

Selling of New Haven in quarters resulted in a decline of nearly 3 points for the stock. Delaware and Hudson declined 4 points to 207 1/2. New York Central and Frisco moved against the trend and prospects of highly dividends stimulated an active demand for these stocks. Southern Pacific jumped 3 points to around 130, and Reading continued to display conspicuous strength.

The weight of profit-taking fell heavily on a number of the industrial, motor and specialty stocks. The air plane stocks lost about 3 points each and recessions in the low-priced motors extended from a fraction to a full point.

'ETERNAL LIFE' CHURCH TOPIC

Rev. Archbold Speaks at Evangelical Church.

Speaking on the subject, "Our Choice Must Be Life or the Wrath of God," Evangelist I. D. Archbold last night addressed a large congregation in the First Evangelical church.

Revival services in charge of Evangelist Archbold will continue throughout the week. Special music will be furnished by singers from the A. M. E. church. Chorus program is planned for Friday.

Rev. Archbold said last night, in part:

"The question is, what is eternal life. To be converted means to be born from on high. You don't find it in entertainment. People seek entertainment because they are not satisfied. The people that are satisfied are few in number. There is only one thing that can satisfy fully and that is eternal life.

"In order to be fully satisfied we must see the beauty of holiness.

"No man can have peace in his heart when he holds hatred or envy in his heart against any one. But when you are right with God you can have peace in the storm and you'll have power to stand for the right. The Christian life is the abounding life. There is no stagnation in it because it gives out continually. Ponds are stagnant because they have no outlet. The great day of God's wrath will soon come. Then the day of punishment will be here. If you don't get saved from sin here you will spend eternity in Hell."

Trapped by her past!

"I had just started to remove my make-up when a note was handed to me. I usually paid little attention to them, but glancing at this one, the name at the bottom caught my eye, and the lights danced dizzily before me." (From "Trapped by My Past," June True Story Magazine).

RECENTLY a woman who a few years ago was a popular actress on Broadway, whose name was emblazoned in electric lights, submitted a story to True Story Magazine which created a stir even among the editors long used to reading startling and unusual stories.

It was the account of why she left the stage abruptly at the height of her career never to be seen upon the boards again.

It was a tale of dread and terror which told how each night, while she swayed her thousands to smiles or tears, her eyes, masking the agony in her soul, were seeking, always seeking, among the audience the one man in all the world who had it in his power to drag her down from the pinnacle of success to the ignominy of defeat.

Deep in her heart she knew that some day he would come, and that when he did her career would end.

And so when one night an usher delivered to her dressing-room a note from a man in the audience who was waiting for her reply, she knew that at last the time had come to settle her account with fate.

Her story appears in True Story for June under the title "Trapped by My Past." Told in her own words, with nothing hidden, nothing omitted and without excuse, into it she has put all the fire and drama that perhaps once held you spell-bound across the footlights.

It may be that when you read it you will recognize her. If so you will then know the answer to a question you have probably asked yourself many times.

Foutts Lines Up Eight Scraps For Thursday Swat Carnival

Swissvale Pug Billed With Freddy Edwards

Johnny Bress, Kenney Davis, "Rock" Rose, Duke Heckathorne and Other Amateur Talent Listed for Action.

Sixteen youthful leather swingers, including nominees from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Weirton, Steubenville, Lisbon and western Pennsylvania will take part in Promoter Ray Foutts' carnival of swat tomorrow evening in the city hall auditorium, Wellsville.

In all, 33 rounds of boxing are scheduled in the first program of the kind ever arranged here, bringing together a big majority of the leading beginners of this section of the valley.

Freddy Edwards, the popular Chester welterweight, "Rock" Rose of the East End, Kid Francis of Wellsville, Johnny Bress of Steubenville and Kenney Davis of the Ceramic City are among the youngsters who will swing leather on the Wellsville program.

To Freddy Edwards is accorded a share of the main bout honors, if the last fight on the card can be so named.

Edwards originally was carded to go on with Ray Mitchell of this city but "Mitch" finally decided to fight in Alliance tomorrow night and so Promoter Foutts has dug another candidate for Edwards. He is Bob Mascere, of Swissdale, Pa.

Like Edwards he is a comparative newcomer in the ring racket but has had enough action to accustom him to things and he should make a good match with the West Virginian. Mascere recently was taken under the managerial wing of Mike Harding of Pittsburgh who sent down Mickey Hart and another boy or so to the F. O. E. fights here.

Kenney Davis will probably meet the toughest boy of his short career to date in Young Stanley Ketchel of Steubenville. Ketchel stowed away Young Clendenning of this city not so long ago at Steubenville but will have more than his hands full with Davis.

Johnny Bress of Steubenville, who kayoed Kid Francis of Wellsville in short order at Steubenville a few weeks ago, takes on Kid Leeper, of Hanoverton.

Leeper is making his first appearance in a local ring tomorrow night. Francis, Bress' victim, will take on Kid Pete Chestnut, ranking lightweight of the Lisbon district.

They say in Wellsville that Don Hyatt can take anything of his size and so Foutts is offering him the opportunity in matching him with Young Clendenning.

The "Rocky" Rose-Duke Heckathorne fracas also sizes up as an interesting scrap. Both are East Enders and with sectional pugilistic honors at stake, they are bound to go in with lists swinging.

The Edwards-Mascere bout is billed for six rounds. All the others are scheduled for four with the exception of the curtain raiser which will bring together a couple of 90 pounders.

Tickets for the fights are on sale at Frank Diamond's and the Club Billiards in East Liverpool and at Morrow's pool room, Wellsville.

Here is the entire card:

- First Bout.
"Red" Williams, Pleasant Heights, vs. Jack O'Lantern, East End, 99 rounds.
- Second Bout.
Don Hyatt, Wellsville, vs. Young Clendenning, 112 pounds.
- Third Bout.
Paul McCrae, Wellsville, vs. Rusty Rogers, Weirton, at 142 pounds.
- Fourth Bout.
Kenney Davis, East Liverpool, vs. Young Stanley Ketchel, Steubenville, at 115.
- Fifth Bout.
Johnny Bress, Steubenville, vs. Kid Leeper, Hanoverton, at 135 pounds.
- Sixth Bout.
Kid Pete Chestnut, Lisbon, vs. Kid Francis, Wellsville, at 135 pounds.
- Seventh Bout.
Ed "Rocky" Rose, East Liverpool, vs. Duke Heckathorne, East End, at 155 pounds.
- Eighth Bout.
Freddy Edwards, Chester, vs. Bob Mascere, Swissvale, Pa., at 147 pounds.

Smiths Defeat Heimies

Rivals Clash as Soft Ball Campaign is Started.

SMITH NEWS, one of the leading contenders in the Review Recreation league last year, won their opening game of the 1928 campaign last night at West End, defeating Heimies, the champs, by the extremely narrow margin of 3 to 2.

The game was principally a pitchers' battle between Dick McKee for Smith News and Paul English for Heimies.

The News nine was first to score, Heckathorne crossing the plate in the first frame. Canavan's gang tallied again in the sixth, Coleman counting, and made their final run in the seventh.

The Heimies revived in the eighth when they scored their first run, Bromby crossing on singles by Canne and McConville. They made their last run in the ninth, Howard tripped and scored on Dickey's out at first.

RISKO REFUSES NEW YORK BOUT

CLEVELAND, May 9.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland's leading heavyweight challenger, will never meet Jack Sharkey in the latter's "own back yard," meaning Tex Rickard's new arena at Boston, according to Danny Dunn, the rubber man's manager.

Risko will fight Sharkey in the so-called revenge battle in New York, Cleveland, Chicago or Philadelphia, or not at all, Dunn emphatically declared, after receiving the Boston offer from Rickard. Personally Dunn wants the fight staged at Dunn field, home of the Cleveland Indians, sometime this summer. In the interim, Dunn is dickering with Herman Taylor of Philadelphia for a match between Risko and George Godfrey at Philadelphia in June.

16-Year-Old Youth May Win Place on Net Team

Wilbur Coen, Jr., Regarded as Likely Candidate for Davis Cup Squad; Must Beat Hennessey and Lott.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, May 9.—It is barely possible that a high school boy, not yet sixteen and just out of half-column pants, will be one of three Americans to be sent out on a hostile foreign court to play for the Davis cup in Europe, it was admitted today at the headquarters of the United Lawn Tennis association. All it appeared, that will be necessary for Wilbur Coen, Jr., of Kansas City, to achieve this distinction—without parallel in the long history of tennis—is for America to survive its intervening matches and for Coen to beat Johnny Hennessey or George M. Lott, Jr., or both in the impending team trials at St. Louis.

This latter isn't much to ask of anyone, unless you happen to be a timid soul and wouldn't think of asking a passerby for the loan of his garters.

However, if this very young man can and does beat Hennessey in St. Louis, the Davis cup committee may find it so difficult to overlook the circumstances that it won't even try, according to some official views. And the understanding is that defeat of both Hennessey and Lott would just about close the incident.

In other words, there will be no run-around this time if Coen repeats his record of the original team trials at Augusta, Ga., just before the first round match with Mexico. His performance on that occasion was second only to Tilden's, yet the committee took perhaps undue account of his extreme youth and failed to name him for the team.

The record in question included defeats of Johnny Doeg, Arnold Jones and Ed Chandler and the loss of a tempestuous five-set match to Tilden himself. Hennessey, of course, was playing great tennis on his own account at the time and his wider experience won him the odd singles position, although it is questionable whether the choice ever really narrowed down to an issue between Hennessey and Coen.

Perhaps, however, the St. Louis trials will be so arranged as to bring about a meeting between the pair and, in this way, definitely remove from the committee's conscience any lingering doubt as to whether it might be giving a worthy candidate the humpty dumpty just because he didn't happen to be born soon enough.

"If Coen repeats his Augusta performances in facing men like Hennessey and Lott, I don't see how he can be kept out of the singles, was the summation of a tennis official, who, however, made the point clear that he wouldn't and couldn't speak for the entire Davis cup committee.

"Coen has everything" except experience, and it is a question in my mind whether this is worth anything in comparison with results what we want to do, primarily, is win back the Davis cup if we can. The best way to do this is to play the men who show to advantage, regardless of age.

"Anyhow, if Coen produces winning results at St. Louis, it will make for a very interesting situation."

It will, indeed, the echo answers; just as interesting as that September day in 1915 when Bobby Jones left his marbles on the back step and showed up at Merion to play his way into third round of a national championship at the age of fourteen.

Madison Billiards Turn In First League Win; Beat Katies

East Enders Hit Timely; Pitcher Cobb Goes Route

♦Davis, A. O'Brosky and Hall Lead Swatters With Perfect Marks; Billiards' Defense Functions Well.

Clouting the ball at opportune moments and taking advantage of the breaks, Jack Duncan's Madison Billiards turned in their first City Industrial League victory last night at Columbian park when they dropped the Katies, 5 to 3, in one of the best played contests of the season to date.

Cobb, who started on the mound for the Madisons against Wellsville in the opening game was pounded hard, came back last night to pitch to the Katies. Although he handed out nine hits, he kept them well scattered with the exception of the fifth frame when the Potters rallied to score a brace of runs. He sent five K. T. K. swatters back to the bench via the strikeout route.

Centerfielder Davis led the batting attack for the Billiards, with a triple, a double and a single in three times up, a perfect mark for the day. But he did not hold the honor alone. Andy O'Brosky crashed out three bingles in three trips up, a triple and a pair of singles, and Hall turned in the same trick, lining out a trio of nice singles. The Madisons counted in the opening frame. Davis, first man up, singled. Babb crashed one to center that got away from Woods, scoring Davis. Morris walked. McKenney was tossed out at first. S. McKenney flew to left, and on a perfect peg by Kinsey, Babb was doubled at the plate.

A O'Brosky's triple and Hall's single produced a run for the Katies in the same frame.

Madison scored another run in the third. Cobb singled but was caught stealing. Davis doubled and scored on Babb's single.

Two more crossed the plate in the fourth. A double by Chamberlain, a single by Davis, coupled with a pair of errors accounted for the brace of runs.

A couple of walks, a wild pitch by Baker and Chamberlain's sacrifice fly to center gave the Madisons their final run in the fifth.

K. T. K. scored twice in the last frame. Coleman, A. O'Brosky and Hall singled in that order and Fowler, pinch hitting for Woods, rapped out a timely bingle to aid the cause before the side was retired.

There is but a slight difference in the manner of holding the ball for each of the deliveries, the pressure of the fingers at the moment of delivery being the controlling factor.

Yankee Victory Streak Is Snapped by Indians

Uhle Holds Hugmen to Four Bingles, Beating Pennock; Giants, Bucs and Redlegs Few Points Apart.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, May 9.—New York, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, the three leaders in the National league race, are only a few points apart this morning. The fast-stepping Pirates stopped the Giants and the Reds held on to second place by defeating Boston.

The American league scramble also tightened up when Roger Peckinpaugh, peer of Yankee shortstops, came to New York with a Cleveland team that snapped the winning streak of the world's champions.

Burling Grimes, spitball pitcher who was traded to Pittsburgh by the Giants because he wasn't effective in the spring, pitched the Pirates to a 6 to 5 triumph over his former mates. The eastern teams are having tough sledding in the west. Brooklyn has won but two games on the tour, Boston only one, and Philadelphia none.

Three hits by Johnny Butler, who couldn't hit while with Brooklyn, featured Chicago's 4 to 3 win over the Robins. Percy Jones, who would rather play ball than loaf on the $500,000 he inherited recently, outpitched Jess Petty.

A burst of generosity on the part of Ed Brandt in the sixth inning, when he issued five passes, helped Cincinnati bury the Braves in a 7 to 2 hand-slice.

Six Phillies pitchers were manhandled by the St. Louis Cardinals to the tune of 15 to 4.

George Uhle seems to be about the only pitcher in the American league who has New York's number. He held the Yanks to four hits, and whitewashed them 3 to 0. It was Pennock's first defeat.

The Athletics advanced to within two games of the Yankees by nailing out the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3. Ed Rommel turned in his first victory.

Bob Fothergill, who has been adorning the Detroit bench most of the season, has started to hit and the Tigers are winning. Robust Robert slugged out two triples, a double and a single as the Bengals smothered the Senators, 12 to 2. The Tigers took fifth place away from the Nats.

The Boston Red Sox moved out of the cellar and the White Sox moved in when Ed Morris, Boston recruit from the Southern league, held the White Sox to four hits and trimmed them 5 to 1.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea
By Frank L. Packard.

When he looked again, after what seemed an endless period of time, the screams of Mindar Singh and the swiftness of the whips had ceased and the four Chinamen were crawling aboard from the bowsprit. There was no amusement in torturing the inanimate! Mindar Singh lay a crumpled, inert heap in the bottom of the boat.

The boat drifted back, and bumped against the schooner's bow. Java Dick and Chen-shu were passing by on their way aft.

"Wat are you going to do with him now?" demanded Java Dick.

"If he be not already dead, he will die shortly," replied Chen-shu with a smooth smile; "and if a wind come and thought must be given to the boat, we will empty the unmentionable remains into the sea. I have grown weary of seeing him upon the deck."

An hour had passed. The heat had lessened, but there was no evening breeze with the setting of the sun—and for Bob Kingsley neither food nor water as had hitherto been the custom at that hour. His lips twisted in a mirthless smile. Java Dick had succumbed and gone below into the cabin. Chen-shu had almost gone below, and so had most of the crew. Food was the last thing in their minds. Their hunger was of a different sort; and their thirst, though, apparently unquenchable, was not for water! Why, then, when they ad no thought of these things for themselves, should they remember him? He was forgotten—except in one particular. As the sun went down and darkness began to fall, the man with the crutch had come to him. The man with the crutch would not forget! It was the man's task each evening to tie his, Bob Kingsley's, hands—probably a self-sought task; certainly one out of which the other derived a bestial joy—as though the man, being privileged to sip at the cup of revenge and finding it rich in flavor smacked his lips in anticipation of the moment when he should drain it to its dregs. Tonight the crutch was sorely needed—and not because of any wound. The man was drunk—and perhaps for that reason the more vicious. Bob Kingsley's hands were lashed together now more tightly than they had ever been before. They hurt him brutally. One turn of the lashings had cut through the flesh of his wrist.

The darkness deepened into blackness. There was no moon, and few stars, and still no breeze. The last sounds of bawling had died away. There was no other sound except the creaking of the schooner's looms as the vessel rolled lazily on the smooth swells; but that sound persisting out of the silence was eerie and uncanny—like some one moaning fretfully in distress.

There were no lights upon the deck—no binnacle light. But there was a man at the wheel—the single evidence of seamanship remaining, even though that duty at the moment was a sinecure—the only figure in sight upon its feet on deck. And the man appeared to be steering. It was like some grotesque, sawdust pantomime. As the man swayed the wheel swayed—it was the wheel that kept the man upon his feet.

Bob Kingsley twisted at his wrist lashings, striving to ease the pain, somewhere under the schooner's bow was the boat. If there were only some way in which he could reach it! Once he had sawed his wrists free with a piece of broken plate. There was no broken plate here! He couldn't see the boat. He hadn't been able to see it after it had drifted in under the bow; but no sound had come from it since Mindar Singh had crumpled up there in the bottom, and the whips had ceased their work because the man could feel no more. Mindar Singh was probably dead.

How long had the night endured? An hour? Two? Or was it only a few minutes since darkness had fallen? His mind seemed to be stumbling. How long until—tomorrow?

His eyes strained aft along the deck—and suddenly he gave a low cry of relief. There was Verna at last! Why hadn't she showed herself before? He had begun to fear that—that she never would—that out of the ugliness of the day something had happened to her. He couldn't see her face, even her figure was indistinct—just a white form standing far back by the taffrail. But she was there.

If it were not for that sole sentinel at the wheel! There wasn't apparently any one else tonight to keep them apart. But she could not pass the man without being seen, and—

He whirled suddenly around. A voice was whispering his name. And then stared like a man distraught. A dark form was crawling aboard the schooner over there on the other side of the bow just opposite to where he stood.

"Sahib," the voice whispered, "have patience—but make no sound! I know what has befallen. Presently I will send the Miss Sahib to you."

Involuntarily Bob Kingsley drew back against the rail. Mindar Singh! Or the ghost of Mindar Singh! Or was he himself merely mad—his reason gone at last? Mindar Singh should be lying dead down there in the boat under the schooner's bow. No! The man was real enough, actual enough. As silently as he had boarded the schooner, Mindar Singh was crawling aft now, keeping close beside the rail where the shadows were blackest—and now the man had disappeared.

The blood was whipping fiercely now through Bob Kingsley's veins. Patience! How could he have patience? What had the man meant by that? If Mindar Singh's sudden appearance meant hope, meant life to Verna and himself, why hadn't the man come over and set him free? How was Mindar Singh going to send the 'Miss Sahib' when the man was there at the wheel? What was it that Mindar Singh was up to? Perhaps the man's brain was crazed. It would be strange if it were not, when it was little less than a miracle that he was ever alive, and even more than a miracle that he had the strength left to climb back aboard the schooner!

Unconsciously Bob Kingsley was straining forward at the end of his six feet of rope. He tried to pierce the blackness, tried to catch a glimpse again of Mindar Singh. But he could see nothing—nothing but Verna's white form, misty, filmy, against the darkness far back there at the taffrail; and, nearer, the shadowy form of the Chinaman who swayed so grotesquely with the swaying of the wheel.

CHAPTER 55.

The minutes passed—like ages in duration. Perhaps three, perhaps four—perhaps five of them. And then it seemed to Bob Kingsley that for a space he had ceased to breathe, for suddenly there was a second shadow there that moved from behind upon the shadow at the wheel—and the arms of the second shadow were lifted high above its head, and in its hands was clutched what might have been a capstan bar.

The creak of the spars and booms as they swung lazily with the schooner's roll was the only sound. The arms of the second shadow descended swiftly, and the shadow at the wheel seemed to dissolve and melt into the deck and become no longer visible.

The second shadow moved again. It went to Verna at the taffrail—and suddenly the tension snapped, and Bob Kingsley drew in a deep, gasping breath. He understood now what Mindar Singh had meant! Verna was coming swiftly, silently toward him along the deck. And the second shadow, which was Mindar Singh he no longer saw, for he had eyes now only for the white, hurrying figure whose name he was whispering over and over again in eagerness, in joy, in thankfulness.

"Verna! Verna! Verna!"

She was beside him now, half-sobbing, working frantically at the knots that fettered him.

And now for a moment Bob Kingsley could find no words; but all that was in his heart, the yearning and the love for her, the gratitude at what now seemed their sure deliverance, was in the pressure of his fingers as they sought her hands, and held them there behind his back and she struggled to untie his bonds.

She pushed his fingers gently away.

"The knots are already very hard to undo," she said tremulously, "and—"

Over his shoulder he was conscious that she had bent her head quickly—and now he felt her lips touch his hands, and felt a tear-drop fall upon them.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Payton, who died one year ago today, May 9, 1927. This day brings back sad memories. Of our loved one gone to rest, And those who think of her today Are the ones who loved her best. We often sit and think of her And speak of him she died. To think she could not say good-by, Before she closed her eyes. Sadly missed by her children.

A $10,000,000 Plant

Turning out the finest money's worth you ever saw in a motor car in all your born days . . . .

TODAY'S Chandler is manifestly the result of a determined aim to build the very finest motor cars it is humanly possible to produce within a price range of $995 to $2195 . . .

Chandler motor cars have long possessed a good reputation and world-wide good will . . . But never . . . never before in Chandler history has a new model shown such advancement over previous models as these new Sixes and Royal Eights of today . . .

We have not only made these cars extremely beautiful, but magnificent . . . not only smart, but fashionable . . . not only distinctive, but distinguished.

Under the hood, more power . . . an increase in the capacity and range of the high-compression Pikes Peak engine principle . . . just to make sure that Chandler performance shall continue to remain unchallenged!

And you have no doubt heard about Chandler being the first car in America to adopt Westinghouse Vacuum Brakes . . . But we ask you . . . have you tried these new brakes?

They make Chandler by all odds the easiest and safest car to control you ever knew . . . With the mere weight of your fingertip you can stop today's Chandler much quicker and more smoothly than any car equipped with hydraulic or mechanical brakes . . .

And who hasn't heard of Chandler's famous "One Shot" centralized lubricating system? It's a wonderful convenience . . . Without stirring from the driver's seat you can lubricate the entire chassis simply by pressing a plunger.

Great qualities . . . Great features . . . Great automobiles . . . The very finest cars it is humanly possible to build within a price range of $995 to $2195 . . .
